DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 3. Claim(s) 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fortman et al. (US 5,987,100).

Regarding claim(s) 1, Fortman discloses a method of multi-modal content delivery (FIG. 2 and column 1, lines 4-11), the method comprising:

establishing a session between a server and a client device (column 6, lines 60-67);

while in a state of the session, delivering content in a first presentation mode format, to the client device, the content being associated with the state (column 7, lines 5-19);

storing a state record associated with the client device, the state record defining the state of the session (column 7, lines 5-19); receiving a mode-switching signal from the client device (column 7, lines 41-52); and in response to the mode-switching signal, continuing the session in the state by delivering the content in a second presentation mode format, to the client device, wherein the second presentation mode format is different from the first presentation mode format (column 7, line 65 to column 8 line 5).

Regarding claim(s) 2, Fortman discloses a method, wherein the first presentation mode format is a voice-based format (column 7, lines 5-19).

Regarding claim(s) 3, Fortman discloses a method, wherein the second presentation mode format is a screen-based format (column 8, lines 63-67).

Regarding claim(s) 4, Fortman discloses a method, wherein the first presentation mode format is a screen-based format (column 8, lines 63-67).

Regarding claim(s) 5, Fortman discloses a method, wherein the second presentation mode format is a voice-based format (column 7, lines 5-19).

Regarding claim(s) 6, Fortman discloses a method, wherein delivering the content, in the first presentation mode format to the client device comprises: receiving content in an original format from the server (column 7, lines 52-64);

Application/Control Number: 10/074,513

Art Unit: 2645

transcoding the content in the original format to provide the content in the first presentation mode format (column 7, lines 52-64); and transmitting the content in the first presentation mode format, over an air interface to the client device (column 8, lines 1-5).

Regarding claim(s) 7, Fortman discloses a method, wherein delivering the content, in the second presentation mode format to the client device comprises: receiving content from the server in an original format (column 7, lines 52-64);

transcoding the content in the original format to provide the content in the second presentation mode format (column 7, lines 52-64); and transmitting the content in the second presentation mode format, over an air interface to the client device (column 8, lines 1-5).

Regarding claim(s) 8, Fortman discloses a method, wherein the state record identifies the state of the session by identifying a navigation point, the navigation point resource available from the server (column 8, lines 1-5).

Regarding claim(s) 9, Fortman discloses a method, wherein the navigation point is defined by identifying a specific a uniform resource identifier (column 7, lines 5-19).

Regarding claim(s) 10, Fortman discloses a method, wherein the state record includes a cache of content associated with the state, and wherein, continuing the session in the state further comprises transmitting the cache of content to the client device (column 7, lines 53-64).

Regarding claim(s) 11, Fortman discloses a method, further comprising: the client device transmitting the mode-switching signal over an air interface (column 8, lines 62-67).

Regarding claim(s) 12, Fortman discloses a method, wherein the mode-switching signal includes a service request, the service request identifying the client device and the second presentation mode format (column 7, lines 5-19).

Regarding claim(s) 13, Fortman discloses a method, further comprising: in response to the service request, determining whether the client device is authorized to receive content formatted for the second presentation mode format (column 7, lines 52-64).

Regarding claim(s) 14, Fortman discloses a method, further comprising: in response to the service request, locating the state record associated with the client device (column 7, lines 52-64).

Art Unit: 2645

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim(s) 1-14 have been considered but are most in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
